WARREN, Mich., October 2026 - Dolphin Centrifuge, an independent remanufacturer of Alfa Laval disc stack and decanter centrifuges, has published its 2026 Capabilities Statement. The company has also consolidated its brand as "Dolphin Centrifuge" across its website, its Thomasnet profile and other channels. It was previously listed as Dolphin Marine & Industrial Centrifuges, and its legal entity remains Dolphin Marine Services Inc.

The capabilities statement summarizes what the company supplies from its facility in Warren, Michigan: remanufactured Alfa Laval disc stack and decanter centrifuges, skid-mounted and containerized centrifuge systems built around them, parts for Alfa Laval, Westfalia and Sharples machines, field service, pilot testing and operator training. It also describes the company's reconditioning standard, under which every seal, gasket, friction pad, bearing and fastener is replaced and every machine is test run at rated speed before shipment.

Dolphin Centrifuge keeps more than 150 machines in stock in Warren and has delivered more than 500 systems worldwide since it was established in 1982. Its machines carry a 12-month warranty. Customers include utilities, power plants, food processors, marine operators and industrial plants. In 2026 the company also registered in SAM.gov as a small business (UEI CLG9TCUVFDM8, CAGE 1WLJ5) to supply federal and utility customers.

"We now use one name, Dolphin Centrifuge, everywhere customers find us," said Sanjay Prabhu, Owner and Chief Engineer. "The capabilities statement lays out what we remanufacture, build and service in one document."
